WORK EXPERIENCE

March 2009- March 2011

International Center for Transitional Justice Cyprus Program, Program Co-coordinator

Project Description: The overall objective of the project was to help pave the way for the revision of the divisive historical narratives held by each side in Cyprus and promote mutually respectful understandings of the past, and so contribute to reconciliation among the two communities. The ICTJ worked in collaboration with local organizations which served as advisors and partners throughout the project. The project aimed to support civil society organizations, community leaders, and politicians in their efforts to promote public debate on issues of how to deal with the past.

Acquired skills: Project planning, project management, organizational skills, team work
